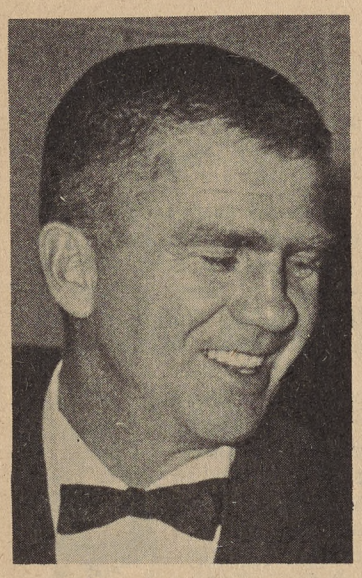
'Pomp, Circumstance'--CHS to graduate '65 seniors



WARREN EDWARDS
...He'll present class

CARMEL--When the ageless processional, Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," begins on the Carmel High School football field June 18, it will mark the beginning of the 25th annual commencement ceremonies for the CHS senior class of '65.

Some 196 upper classmen will be graduating, led by valedictorian Lois Watson and salutorian Linda Lachmund.

The processional will be played by the CHS band.

The Rev. Peter Farmer, headmaster of Bishop Kip School in Carmel Valley, will give the invocation, followed by the graduates and audience saluting the flag and singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Bill Stowers Jr., Most Valuable Athlete of the Year for 1965, will lead the flag salute.

Miss Lachmund will then speak, after which class president Fred Gehring will present the class gift. Miss Watson speaks next, with Principal Warren Edwards scheduled to follow to present the class of 1965.

Mrs. Herbert Blanks of the board of education will present diplomas.

The Rev. Burkette Cree will then give the benediction, followed by the recessional, "Fanfare and Recessional" by Polyhar, played by the band.

Graduates will be:

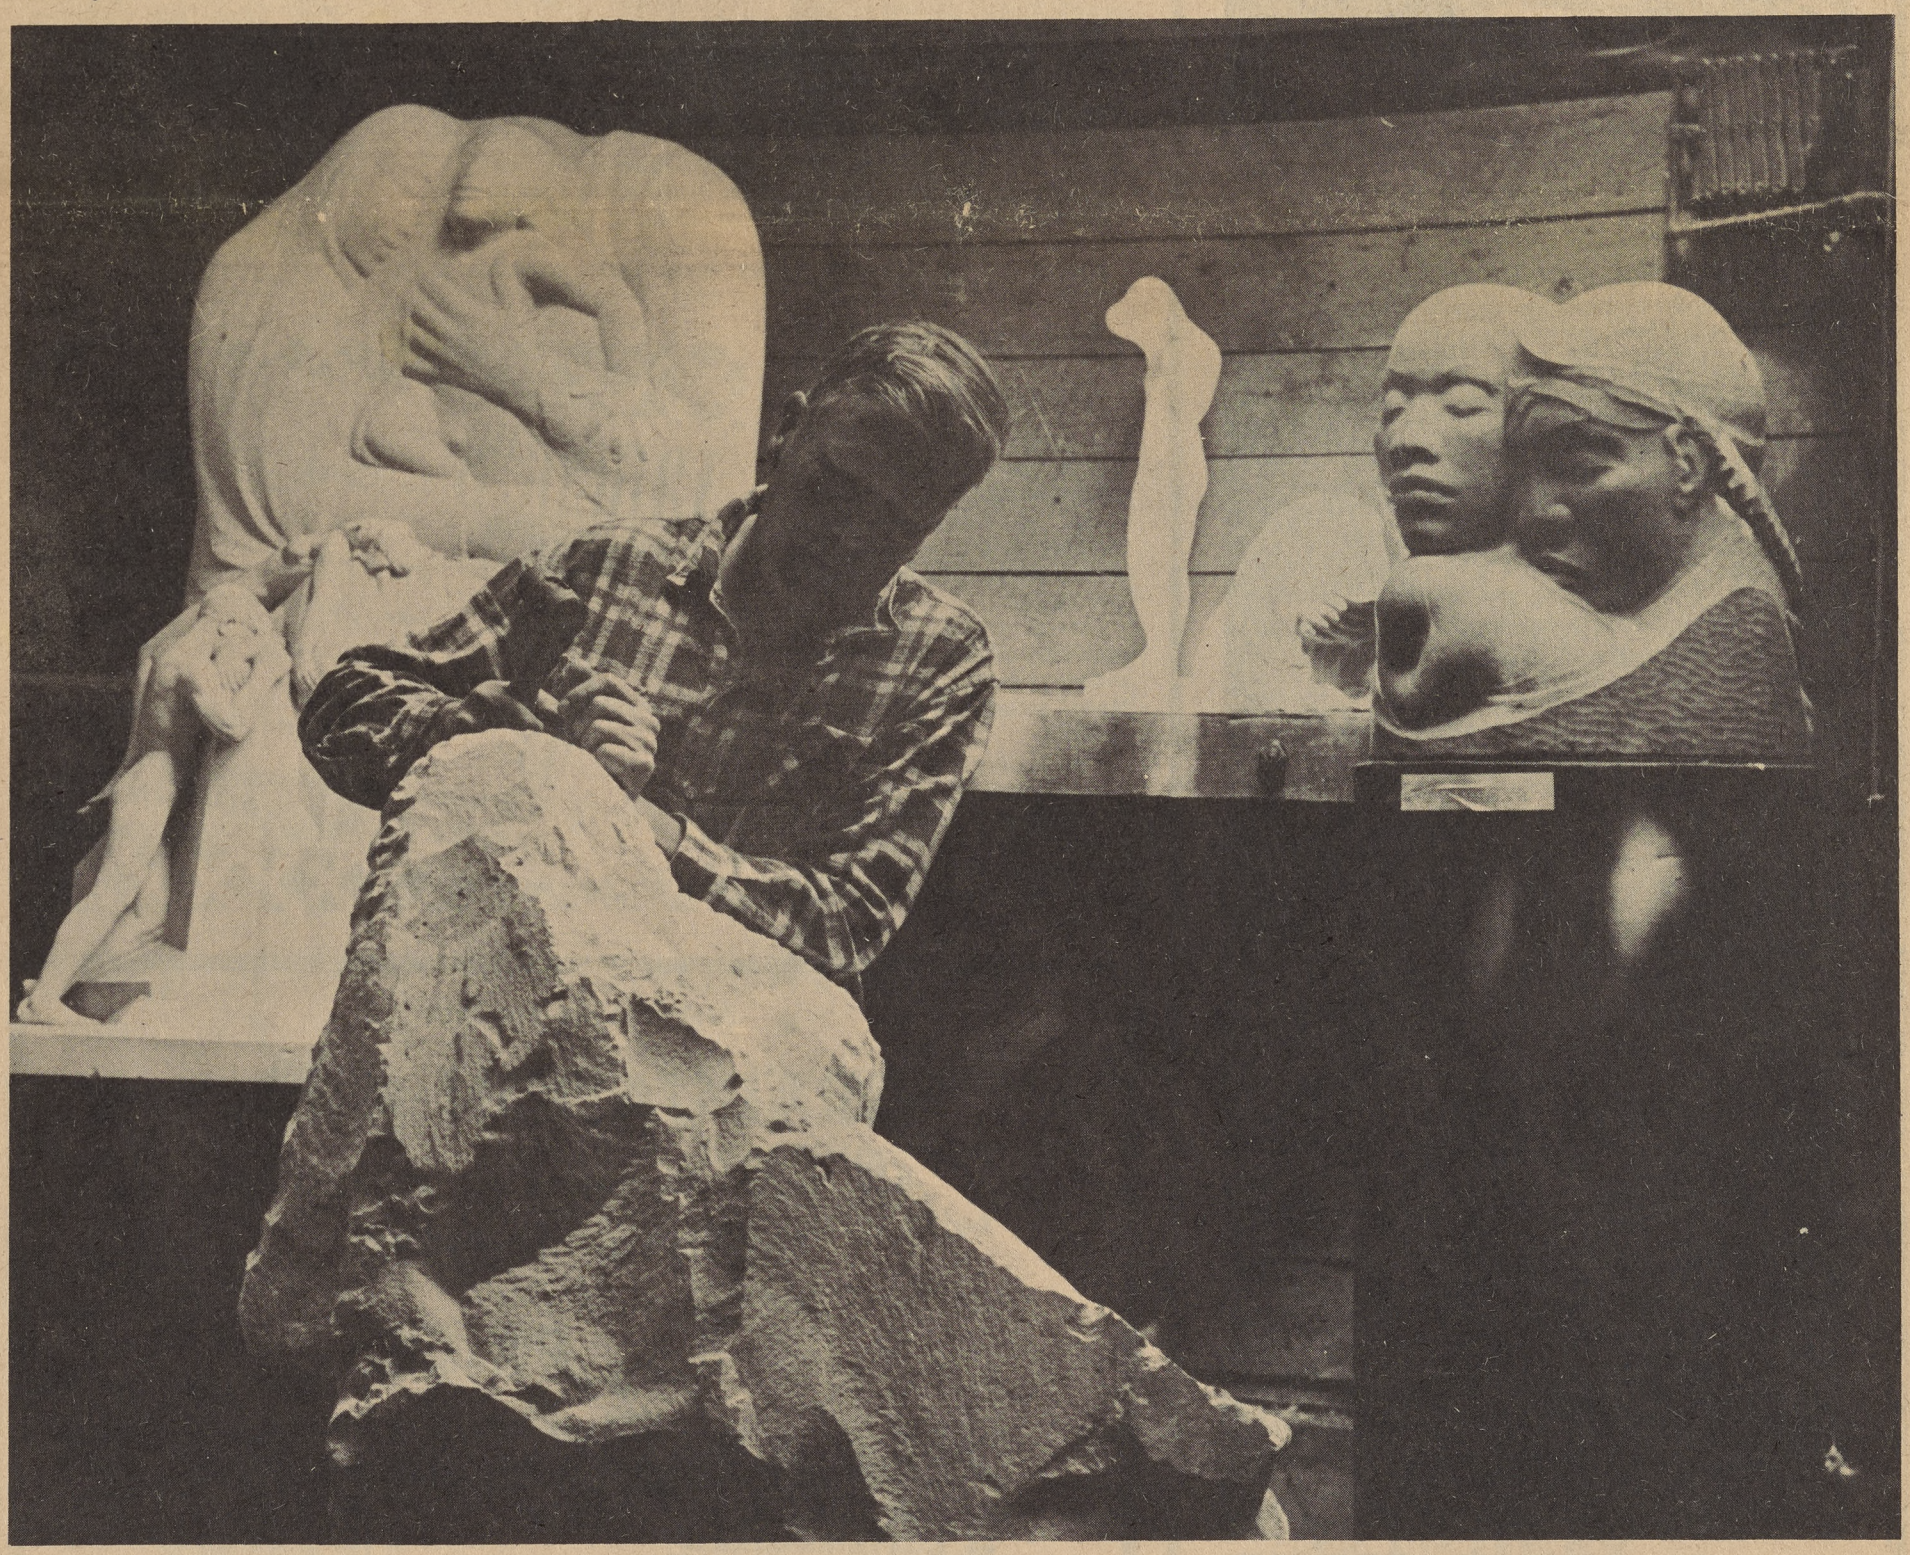
Here's help for visitors

This issue contains the Outlook's monthly summer Resort Edition, published to assist Monterey Peninsula visitors in finding lodging, food and entertainment.

The eight-page section, located at the centerfold, includes two pages on Carmel Valley, two on Carmel, one on Monterey, a calendar of events, the Outlook Dining Guide and details on the open house and preview of Hidden Hills subdivision and stables.



A CORNER GROUPING of mother, father and child will evolve from a piece of lava agregate which Alex Weygers found at Plymouth, Calif., during a recent trip through the Sierra quarries in search of different varieties of stone. This triangular block has much of the quality of chalk rock without the strata lines which will shatter when chipped. Students in outdoor summer classes at Weyger's studio will work with many hardnesses of materials and learn their qualities. See Page 12.

Sheriff's Blotter

90 days for man drunk at airstrip

By REX PRYER
Outlook Correspondent

A 90-day suspended sentence was meted out to a Santa Clara County man Monday after he bragged of plans to take off from Carmel Valley Airstrip at night while he was drunk.

Lozier Morrett of Saratoga pleaded guilty of being under the influence of alcohol in a public place when he was arrested by Monterey County Sheriff's deputies at the airstrip early Monday morning.

He had phoned the Federal Aviation Agency in Salinas for flight conditions at 12:30 a.m. FAA officials notified the Sheriff's office.

Deputies found Morrett's plane at the airstrip and waited until he showed up at 2:10. He was accompanied by a Carmel Valley woman and her son after he had met her in a Village tavern.

She said he planned on staying at her house for the night. Deputies thought differently, however, and he ended up in County Jail for the night.

Fist fights and vandalism characterized the Sheriff's Blotter for the last two weeks. Highlights included:

--Two Carmel High School boys from Carmel and Robles Del Rio were stopped from fighting on campus June 3 when Principal Warren Edwards discovered the Carmel boy had

Bill Stowers Jr. (right) of Carmel Valley has been named 1965 Most Valuable Athlete of the Year at Carmel High School.

Stowers, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. Bill Stowers of Country Club Drive, won the honor at the annual CHS sports banquet last week. Stowers' father was chairman for the dinner attended by 150 athletes, parents and fans at The Shutters restaurant in Monterey.

The all-around athletic whiz garnered various awards in three sports, including:

--Jim Kelsey award at the 1964 CHS football banquet.

-- All-Mission Trail Athletic League as offensive and defensive tackle.

--Letter in basketball as offensive forward and defensive guard.

--Letter in baseball as left fielder.

--Voted baseball captain by his teammates.

Monterey Peninsula College will probably profit from Stowers' prowess, as he plans to enroll there this fall.

In other sports, these boys won MVP honors:

Ralph Juarez, baseball; Don Blanks, basketball; Pete Steffen and Craig Olsen, tennis; Lawson Little III, golf; Bud Smith, swimming, and Randy Mapstead, track.

Other track awards went to Mapstead as top sprinter, Rick Piper, top distance runner, and Dave Erickson, top field competitor. All three were cited on the Milar Track Trophy, which recognizes the three divisions annually.

E. A. Nolan of Paseo Mediano, Carmel Valley, has been awarded a 10-year service award from Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

The presentation was made at a service award dinner honoring 148 employees.

Blaze burns brush in Robles

Three trucks, a pickup and 16 firemen from Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department controlled a brush fire on one tenth of an acre May 30 on Piedras Blancas in Robles Del Rio.

Changing living habits cause gross neglect of animals?

By GWENDOLYN R. MAY
State Humane Officer, Carmel Valley

Many instances of gross neglect of animals exist today. Our modern living habits are apparently experiencing a transition from urban to suburban--with far too many of us seemingly unaware that suburban is not rural.

Many, newly exposed to semi-rural living, are completely lacking in the basic knowledge of animal husbandry. This results in numerous cases of inhumane animal care. One horse might do well on one acre of pasture (with supplementary feed) but often an additional horse or two are added without providing additional food for the extra livestock.

Soon the animals are showing evidence of starvation by grazing through the fences, tearing grasses out at the roots, or even breaking through the fences to get at roadside weeds.

Large dogs allowed to run in suburban areas are quite likely to start chasing someone's sheep, cattle, or horses--the next step is the killing of livestock--a real problem to ranchers in this area.

Keep your dogs at home--it is your responsibility to do so.

Laws pertaining to the above:

The Monterey County Zoning ordinance allows two horses per acre of land and one additional horse for each additional half-acre of land.

State Penal Code 597 makes it a misdemeanor not to provide adequate food, water and shelter for any animals this includes "any dumb creature" as defined.

Agricultural Code 439.18 gives a rancher permission to shoot to kill any dog found killing, wounding or persistently persuing or worrying livestock or poultry. (Some are forced to, so do keep your dogs at home!)

Because of the numerous instances of animal neglect the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is experiencing a heavy workload in apprehending and investigating individuals accused of mistreating animals.

Working as it does without benefit of public funds, the society is hard pressed to make ends meet financially.

Membership in the SPCA is very nominal, $5 a year, and new members are needed.

Anonymous donations are also welcome, and anyone wishing to contribute to this cause may send their contributions to:

Secretary S.P.C.A., P.O. Box 1335, Monterey, California.

(Mrs. May, who lives at Meadow Place and Panetta Road, has provided the Outlook with copies of a newly-printed brochure detailing the activities of the SPCA in Monterey County. Copies are available at the Outlook office, 69 W. Carmel Valley Road near Pilot Road, or by mail to SPCA Brochure, Outlook, Bin CC, Carmel Valley.--Ed.)

Perspective

Opinion—yours and ours

MPC faculty regrets resignation

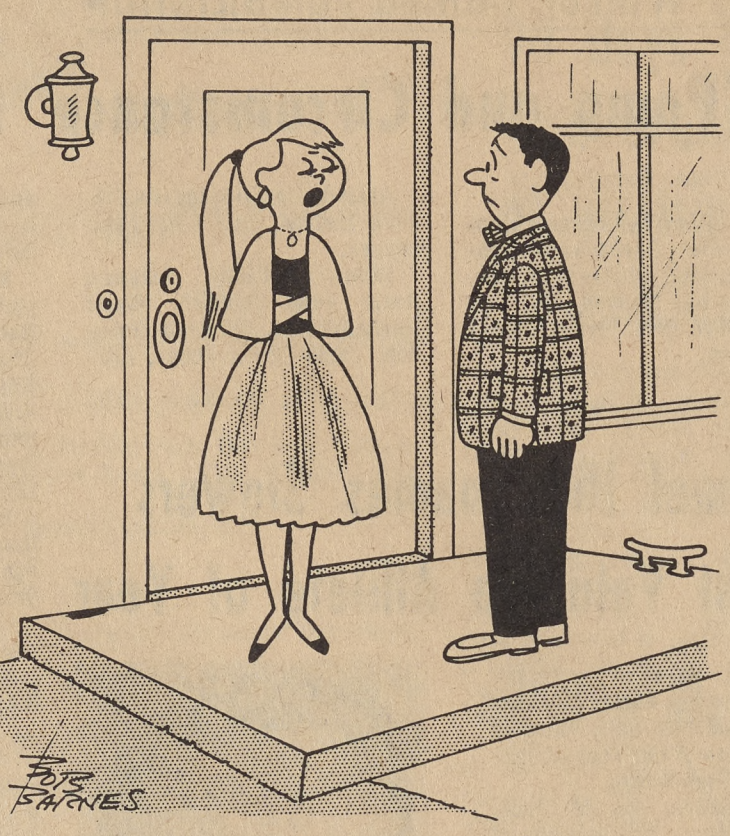
The Monterey Peninsula College Faculty Association's executive committee and the MPC Academic Senate have expressed their regret over the resignation of former Valleyite Warren Chapman, a member of the college's English department faculty since 1952.

A joint statement reads in part:

"We view with special regret the departure of Mr. Warren Chapman from the faculty of Monterey Peninsula College. Mr. Chapman has been distinguished not only as a teacher who has demonstrated profound understanding of our students, but also as a brilliant leader of the faculty itself.

"Often when a teacher emerges as a leader of his peers, he is encouraged to enter the ranks of administration. But we believe it is important for at least some of the exceptional instructors who have demonstrated a high order of leadership to remain teachers.

Mr. Chapman has provided the MPC faculty with unusually skillful and perceptive leadership...Mr. Chapman contributed enormously toward the job of keeping the faculty united and undismayed in moments when unity and optimism were crucial for the healthy functioning of the college."



"I'm glad you spent an enjoyable evening, Alvin—because you certainly didn't spend anything else."

Bits 'n' Pieces

Red rose raiser

The honor of the Lower Valley has been upheld--by Mona Patrick. For some time, she tells us, her Upper Valley friends had been making unfounded (and unfriendly) remarks, such as, "If you really intend to raise roses of any consequence, you simply will have to move out of the fog belt."

To demolish statements of this type in a dignified but conclusive manner, Mona merely entered her roses in the recent show of the Carmel Valley Garden Association. Came off with six ribbons. More than any other single exhibitor. Ha!

Our editorial policy

The Outlook's official views are expressed in the editorials only. Signed columns and letters to the editor are the opinion of the writer and should not be construed as Outlook editorial views or those of the majority of the editorial staff.

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be typewritten, double-spaced and kept brief. Deadline for letters is Friday noon preceding the Wednesday publication date.

NEWCOMERS PLEASE NOTE

If you live in the Lower Valley, by the way, have you visited the California State Division of Forestry station on the Pacific Grive cutoff this month? If not, and if you have so much as lighted your incinerator, you have been breaking the law.

All Carmel Valley west of Rancho Fiesta depends on the State Division of Forestry for fire protection. Each year, precious minutes during times of emergency are wasted because some Lower Valleyites--usually newcomers--are unaware of this fact.

Seeking help after fire strikes (and somewhere, it always does), the uninformed naturally assume that they are in the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire District. The volunteer laddies, however, are not permitted to answer calls west of Rancho Fiesta. The time is wasted in relaying calls to the Carmel Hill station, located near the Community Hospital.

And that is where you go to get your fire permit. Even if you had one last year, it expired automatically on May 1. Note also that the forestry station is closed during the noon hour, so please make that visit sooner or later.

SPCA warning

Campers err in picking up fawns here

Hikers and campers, "kindly disposed but uninformed," have been mistakenly picking up fawns and other young forms of wildlife in the Carmel Valley area, Valleyite Gwendolyn R. May, state humane officer, said this week.

Mrs. May told the Outlook that baby foxes, raccoons, bobcats, skunks and mountain lions are not impossible to find in forested areas of the Valley.

"Not only is it unwise to tamper with these wildlife babies," she stressed, "but it is also unlawful to possess a spotted fawn or deer at any time."

In most cases, a seemingly "lost" animal is really safe, but its mother may be reluctant to come out into the open with humans around, she added.

The State Department of Fish & Game has also added its annual pring-summer warning to leave baby animals alone, she said.

Mrs. May suggested, however, that if such an animal is found ill or injured, the Monterey County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should be notified at 375-3333.

CUSD wins reversal in bus case

Carmel Unified School District has won a reversal of a court ruling that it must provide bus service to a family in Paloma Creek, some 30 miles from Carmel Junior High School.

The board of education was notified that a district court of appeal granted the district the use of its discretion when a bus route contains "hazards."

"Hazards of the road (to Paloma Creek) stemming from its narrowness and its sharp turns" prompted the district to curtail bus service to the Robert Manjares family in 1963, according to court documents.

After termination, the bus ran up to 6.2 miles from the Manjares home. The district had offered to pay the parents for driving their children to that point.

The reversal was based on a State Education Code statute which grants a board of education the right to provide bus service when "advisable."

Mapstead cops third at NCS

Carmel High's Randy Mapstead placed third in the 880 at the North Coast Section finals track meet at Santa Rosa City College last Saturday.

His performance earned him a trip to the state finals meet in Bakersfield Friday and Saturday. Randy's time of 1:54.8 was a new school record.

This is the third time this season that Mapstead has broken the record. He first broke it at the King City Invitational meet of April 6. Then he lowered the mark at the NCS Division II meet on May 22.

Randy also holds the school record for the 440 which he set last year.

Johnny Johnson of Pacific Grove barely won his specialty, the long jump. He was still experiencing trouble with his stride.

Vandalism may close CV pool

Vandalism at the Carmel Valley Community Pool may force closing it, even before all-week programs begin in a week-and-a-half, manager Ken White said this week.

White told the Outlook that rocks, bottles and paper sacks of dirt are being tossed into the pool three or four times a week. It costs $25 each time the pool must be cleaned, he noted.

"If we don't stop it," White declared, "we may have to close the pool for swimming."

The annual summer swimming program, which is scheduled to pull into full swing as soon as school is dismissed, is threatened by the mischief.

White asked residents to report any suspicious movement around the pool after 5 p.m. to the Monterey County Sheriff's office.

He also requested Valley youths who may be responsible to realize that they are actually helping to pay the extra $100 a week in taxes.

MRS. TOM WATERS, retiring president of Carmel Valley Women's Club, presents a check for $600 to Ken Van Hagen, representing the Community Center Board. He graciously accepted it and then reached into a bag and presented Ellen with a bow-bedecked piece of blacktop, representing the paving which will be installed at the center and pool as a result of the generous contribution. At right, Mrs. Ronald Stoney, second president of the club, and Mrs. Santos Corona, third president, joined others in laughter as Ken's gesture brought down the house.

Carmel Bach Festival box office opens this week

28th season runs from July 16-25; tickets scarce

The box office for the Carmel Bach Festival is open 10 to 4, Monday through Friday, it was announced this week by Michel MacKay, executive secretary. The box office is located in the Sunset Terrace Bldg., at Mission and Eighth in Carmel.

The festival, now in its 28th season and under the baton of Maestro Sandor Salgo, extends from July 16 through July 25.

Mrs. MacKay announced that there are few tickets left for the 11 p.m. Carmel Mission concert Wednesday night, July 21.

Tickets are available for both weekend performances, the second weekend being a repeat of the first. Tickets are nearly gone for Monday and Tuesday night performances and Thursday night is completely sold out.

The Festival Office, 624-1521, can offer full information.

Carmel Valley Little League's annual public barbecue has been slated for June 20 at the Village Fire Station, Pres. Sherman LaFave said this week.

Tickets will cost $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children. Attendance is not limited to Little Leaguers, said LaFave.

Tickets may be purchased at the site and from all Little League players and managers. Information is available from LaFave at 624-8244.

The Valley at LARGE

Comings and goings of people you know...

By GINNIE DREW

"Is that pipeline for clean or dirty water...sewage line or water main?"

In answer to many queries about the work on the Valley Road, California Water Co. reports that it is installing a 36-inch main from the Begonia Gardens to Wolter's Market, approximately 11,000 feet, to increase the flow from the San Clemente Filter plant to the Peninsula.

As of yesterday, 7,000 feet had been installed. And although those pipes look like they're made of cardboard, they are steel, covered with fiberglass and lined with cement.

The 20th reunion of the class of 1945 at Carmel High School is planned for this summer. Although many of the alumnae still live on the Peninsula, they would like to contact as many others as possible.

Anyone who can help with information and addresses please call Mrs. Kenneth Holbrook, 624-1132, or Stanley Ewig, 624-3178.

A number of local persons attended a weekend meeting at Carmel Valley Inn of the Foundation for Economic Education. The principal speakers were Leonard E. Reed, president of the foundation, and the Rev. Edmund A. Opitz.

The conference theme was "The Essence of Americanism" or "The Spiritual, Political and Economic Antecedents of the American Miracle."

The Community Chapel Thrift Shop will remain open from 10 to 5 during the summer months, according to Mrs. Frank Murphy. The hours on Tuesday and Thursday will remain the same from 11-3.

An innovation will be a "Bargain Table" for thrifty shoppers.

The Oakland Civic Ballet provided most enjoyable entertainment at their recent Valley performance. We were fortunate to have these talented young people present their program.

Of particular delight to the younger members of the audience, and there were many, was the "Proposal of Pantelone" with choreography by Valleyite Angene Feves.

Against an imaginatively simple set by Joan Larkey, the dancers were very competent and looked as though they enjoyed presenting it as much as the audience enjoyed watching.

Cindy Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Flint of Schulte Road, was recently given the most valuable player award presented by the Girl's Athletic Association (GAA) at Carmel High.

This is the top award for a senior girl and the recipient is selected by vote of the members in secret ballot.

Ken Van Hagen will probably never forget his birthday last week. When he arrived for a presentation at the CV Women's Club luncheon, the entire organization serenaded him with "Happy Birthday!"

He beat a hasty retreat, however, when they suggested that he wait for a birthday kiss from each of them!

A spring recital by piano pupils of Sunzah Park will be presented Sunday in Fellowship Hall of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel at 3 p.m.

The program will include solos, duets and selections for two piano-four hands and two piano-eight hands. The public is invited to attend.

Students from the Valley who will participate in the recital are Anita, Lydia and Helena Bresk, Christine Brill, Jimmy Fuller, Kelly and Steven Garner, Regina Howland, Marnie Mark, Becky Sweet and Robin White.

Four Valleyites travel to Boston for conference

BOSTON--Four Carmel Valleyites checked into this city Monday as the annual meeting of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, opened with several thousand attending.

The local Christian scientists in Boston this week include Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ireland, Mrs. J. D. Lowsley and John L. Conrad, all of Hacienda Carmel.

The Christian Science board of directors urged the members to find "areas of agreement" with other religious denominations "rather than thinking of ourselves as entirely different or exclusive."

UNDER THE OAKS AND AMONG THE CACTI

By MILDRED HATTAN

When royalty from Dogdom crowded the Monterey Peninsula last weekend for the 40th annual Del Monte Dog Show at Pebble Beach, Carmel Valley was well represented among exhibitors, judges and spectators.

Among the parties held during the weekend was the one hosted by members of the Cabrillo Doberman Pinscher Club at the Poppy Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kamerer for persons associated with the Doberman Specialty Show held on Saturday at the Carmel Valley Inn.

Among those enjoying cocktails and dinner were Dr. Wilfrid Shute, a house guest from Canada of the Kamerers while here to judge both the Specialty Show and the Blue Ribbon Event; Milo Pearsall, an obedience judge from Virginia who conducted a clinic Monday at the Inn for obedience trainers and instructors; Douglas Mueller, an obedience judge from San Antonio, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Leathe; Miss Sandra Porter; Mrs. Jerry Petkus; Lt. and Mrs. Johnny Gentry; Mrs. June Martin Wood; recording secretary for Del Monte Kennel Club and publicity director for the Pebble Beach show; Mrs. Barbara Waymire; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grover (Mr. Grover is president of the Cabrillo Doberman Pinscher Club) and Peter; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bender of Sacramento; Lillian Koehler, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. M. Lumpkin of Palo Alto; Rod Carveth, race driver and owner of a number of top Dobermans; Dr. Teresa McGovern of San Jose; Melinda Murdock, former president of the Orange Empire Kennel Club; Helen Kirk, first honorary member of the Doberman Club, and Mrs. Fran Dwyer of San Francisco, widow of Ken Dwyer, judge and supporter of all canine events.

A dinner which has become traditional was held on the eve of the show honoring the judges of the Del Monte Kennel Club All Breed Dog Show.

Favors designed like coveted blue ribbon rosette awards doubled as place cards at the beautifully appointed tables at The Beach Club.

Ladies were presented with carnation corsages following the Blue Ribbon theme at the cocktail party preceding the dinner. During the dinner Valleyite Frank Grover, president of the host Del Monte Kennel Club, read the communique received from G. Clifford Proett who heads a national organization attempting to make the clothing of all animals mandatory.

He notified the Kennel Club that he was assigning 100 beatnik pickets to work the show unless all 1575 entries appeared fully dressed.

Security officers of Del Monte Forest were alerted and no incidents were reported.

However, one red Weimeraner was spotted on the greens in a man's turtleneck sweatshirt!

Among the 80 guests attending the Pebble Beach dinner were the 18 judges from all parts of the country and Valleyites Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kamerer, Miss Billie Mans, Mrs. June Wood, Derek Rayne, O. M. Pick, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hattan and former residents who now made their home in San Jose, Cmdr. and Mrs. Carl Barron.

Dr. and Mrs. Jerald Walker and daughter Nancy have been entertaining Margaret's mother at their home on Via Contenta. Mrs. Edith Ely returned to her home in Seattle, Wash., last weekend.

Additional honors have gone to winners of the model airplane building course sponsored recently by the Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club. Accompanied by George Clifford and their instructor, Bob Lambert, the young people were given a tour of the Naval Air Facility where they inspected helicopters and jets.

Three Salinas hunters with a mountain lion shot on the Cachagua drew a crowd of both residents and tourists recently to view the 130-pound six-foot-six-inch cat.

Shots by Waldo Simons and Ed Plumlee brought down the animal. They were accompanied by Ken Harrington.

Hoping to be settled in their new Country Club Drive home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson and sons Christopher and Rodney. The home owned by Lee and Johnny at 40 Hitchcock Canyon for a number of years will now be occupied by Penny and Bob Haller.

All of the girls enrolled in Mrs. Dorothy Estill's first grade accompanied Julie Ann Zoellin home on the bus May 27 to assist with the celebration of her seventh birthday.

The children enjoyed many games including a treasure hunt and refreshments served from a decorated table.

First grade guests included Katherine Belleci, Jenny Stusek, Karen Knight, Jane Eckerd, Marguerite Feenty, Tracy Rushner, Judy Young and Ellen Savoldi.

Other guests were Teri Rushmer, Leslie Bussinger, Autumn Alexander (who is visiting her grandmother in Carmel), Julie's sister, Sylvia, and a special guest from Pacific Grove, her grandmother, Mrs. L. O. Branstetter. Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Zoellin of Garzas Road.

Six class groups

Vacation Bible school begins at Community Chapel June 21

The Community Chapel Vacation Bible school will be held June 21-July 2, Mrs. Don Johnson, director, announced this week. Sessions will run from 9:30-11:45 each weekday.

Classes will be divided into six groups: pre-school taught by Mrs. Don Brill, kindergarten taught by Miss Christine Borregaard, first grade taught by Miss Sherry May and Mrs. Jean Danielson, second grade taught by Mrs. Frieda Bresk, third grade taught by Mrs. Helen Gilmore and the juniors from 4th through 6th grade taught by Mrs. Ruth Short. Mrs. Joan Low will teach the handcrafts for the older children and Mrs. Stella Miller will arrange for each morning's refreshments.

The theme of the bible school this summer will be the teachings of Jesus and Mrs. Johnson will conduct the opening worship services.

All Valley children are welcome whether they attend the Community Chapel or not, and those going to summer school may register for the first week only. Children may be registered by calling Mrs. Nina Freeman at 659-2355.

SRI appoints Carmel man top engineer

Allan M. Hudson of Carmel has just been appointed to a key staff position of the Stanford Research Institute's research office at Fort Ord. The announcement was made last week by Dr. William C. Pettijohn, local director.

Mr. Hudson who is an electrical engineer, has been assigned as Research Engineer in the instrumentation division of S.R.I. He has been associated with several engineering laboratories on the Peninsula since 1956 when he left the Navy.

Portraits, landscapes, seascapes

Thomas photos at Tantamount exhibit

The photographs of Douglas Thomas currently enliven the walls of the Tantamount Theatre's Green Room Gallery. The one-man exhibition will be on view during the month of June.

Thomas's subject matter displays a wide range of interest. Dominant among portraits and landscapes are studies of the sea and shore.

Adding to his art and philosophy background at college level, he studied photography at Monterey Peninsula College. Now living on the Peninsula, he is a native of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Theatre-goers can enjoy the 35 prints before curtain time or at coffee intermission. The Green Room Gallery is also open to visitors every Saturday and Sunday afternoon from 2-5.

Sallie Clark engaged to man from P.G.

The engagement of Sallie Abbott Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie G. Clark Jr., and Joel Dean Funderburg, son of Mrs. Paul Funderburg and the late Mr. Funderburg of Pacific Grove, was announced at an afternoon reception Sunday at the Clark's Rancho Rio Vista home.

Sallie graduated from the Catlin-Gabel School in Portland, Ore., and was a Christmas Cotillion debutante during the 1961 holiday season in Portland.

She attended San Jose State College, where she affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and at the present time is attending the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies. She is a provisional member of the Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula.

Joel is now attending Monterey Peninsula College following completion of a four-year tour with the Navy. Sallie and Joel will make their home in Carmel after their wedding in August.

The Carmel and Carmel Valley Barracudas will compete against the Cabrillo swim team on July 3.

'Thumbs down' on Carmel Rancho golf range, zone board rules

At the Board of Zoning Regulations meeting in Salinas on May 11, the request by Jack Morris for a golf driving range to be located at Carmel Rancho was denied by the board. The request by N. J. Raines for a use permit for a thirty unit apartment building facing on Pilot Road was continued until July 8.

A variance was permitted on property owned by Michael Appleton on Robinson Canyon Road, and a permit for a guest house was OKed for the Ted Shonk property in Rancho Canada.

4-STORY VIET NAM STATUE

This religious statue, four stories high and handmade by Vietnamese citizens was explained to Carmel Valley Lions Club at a meeting last week.

The speaker was Sgt. Maj. John Koon, who had served in Viet Nam for a year and is now stationed at Ft. Ord.

When the major took this photo, sun rays streamed through the dark clouds and a reflection happened to form a halo around the infant's head, making it an ironically dramatic photo.

Koon told the Lions that the Viet Nam mountain tribes, with which he spent most of his stay, felt warmly toward Americans, but were strangely set against the Vietnamese.

The statue is on a peak near Pleiku in central Viet Nam, where he witnessed a Booklyn priest and 68 tribesmen withstand a series of Communist Viet Cong attacks.

Salinas-Monterey Highway site

CHP captain defends consolidation

Capt. F.F. Simmons has come to the defense of a planned consolidation of the California Highway Patrol's Seaside and Salinas offices.

The plan, which calls for closing the Seaside office in spring, had come under fire by at least one CHP officer, as reported in the Outlook two weeks ago.

Simmons, who heads the patrol in Monterey County, said the merger would result in a centrally located office on Salinas-Monterey Highway near Reservation Road. The site is eight miles from the present Salinas office and 10 miles from the Seaside station.

The new site would be ideal for dispatching cars to most points in the county, Simmons said. In addition, it would have line-of-sight access to the CHP microwave communications transmitter on Fremont Peak.

The Seaside office now is too small, badly situated, too old and limited in usefulness, the captain declared.

"It's a hole in the wall," he added, "and anybody who thinks they are going to have anything less than they have now is just not correct."

He blamed much of the Peninsula and individual officers' opposition on "misinformation."

The new office would be open to the public 24 hours a day, which is not true at either of the present locations, Simmons noted. The Salinas office does operate around-the-clock, but does not admit citizens at night.

"We will no longer have to maintain two separate sets of patrol cars, so we will have more cars available for any area at any one time," he said.

The patrol has taken future freeway plans into consideration in placing the new office, as well as population growth trends and possible CHP expansion, said Simmons.

School math: 'good in general'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A report on the mathematics program in Carmel schools was recently presented to the board of education. Following is the full text, as prepared by a subcommittee of Carmel Unified School District citizens. The Outlook will publish reports on various curricula as they are presented to the board.)

INTRODUCTION

The Carmel School System should be commended for following vigorously the proposals of earlier citizens' committees, using new methods and approaches to teaching mathematics, organizing in-service training programs and instituting instructional programs for parents.

The committee decided to make recommendations and comments in three areas: textbooks, instructors and the curriculum. These are summarized as follows:

INSTRUCTORS

It is our understanding that in grades 9 through 12 the instruction of mathematics is departmentalized. The committee recommends that more thought be given to team and group instruction or to any other means in order to make specialists available in the elementary grades.

Two important requisites for mathematics instructors are knowledge and enthusiasm about their subject. Any teacher lacking these should be provided with additional opportunity to see mathematics in a more creative light, or be permitted to focus his abilities in another area.

All of the teachers of the Carmel School District who attended committee meetings had these qualities.

TEXTBOOKS

Although good textbooks will supplement the quality of instruction, the committee feels there is no real substitute for good teachers.

A good instructor can teach mathematics well with any of the current instructional material; however, using better textbooks when they become available would obviously improve the instruction. The committee was pleased with the use of programmed texts in certain grades.

There is little advantage to confining the procurement of textbooks to one series or to one publisher. A variety of textbooks by different authors, presenting a variety of approaches to the same concept, is preferable.

A student's education in mathematics should be an integral part of a broad curriculum; however, this does not mean that mathematics should be taught to the exclusion of other subjects.

A conscientious effort needs to be made to present mathematics as an important part of our culture. Such effort could be initiated by a program to popularize the extensive literature in this subject written in lay language, other than textbooks, that is now missing from almost every home and missing from too many classrooms.

The schools might undertake the updating of the NCTM bibliography and make it available to the community. A few suggested titles are included as an enclosure.

Schools might alos look into the possible use of the "Mathematics Student Journal," published periodically by NCTM.

CURRICULUM

The committee was in general quite impressed by the curriculum in the Carmel schools as it was described to us.

We are happy to find that the curriculum advisors are encouraging as many students as possible to pursue a normal albegra - geometry - trigonometry or college preparatory course, even if they do not intend to go to college--in fact especially if they do not intend to go to college.

If their high school is going to give them all the formal mathematics instruction they will ever get, they should be encouraged to go as far as they can

The committee recognizes that there are a few basic fundamentals — symbols, operations, multiplication tables, ets — that must be learned by everyone, by extensive rote if necessary, if they are go get on in mathematics. This is an area where a great amount of teaching skill is required.

The instructor must inspire the students to surmount this hurdle without closing their minds to further learning.

Alex Weygers' summer school

This is really 'do-it-yourself'—Valley sculpture students will even forge their own tools

WORKING at his outdoor forge, Alex Weygers demonstrates how simple it is to work with pieces of scrap steel such as those leaning against the anvil. (Photos by George T. C. Smith)

By GINNIE DREW
Outlook Associate Editor

"If a person can drive a nail without hitting his thumb, he is perfectly capable of forging his own tools," was the comment made by artist-sculptor Alex Weygers, as he discussed his plans for an outdoor summer school at his La Rancheria studio.

The first day of class, June 15, each student will make his own implements for stone carving at the blacksmith's forge. As he was speaking, in the space of 60 seconds, Alex formed and flattened a spatula from scrap steel, showing how simple it really was.

He reflected that people are so often afraid of trying things that in reality are easily reached.

"Because of a preconceived opinion, many a rewarding path is closed," he said.

In his summer classroom, Alex will combine the pleasure of working in the outdoors with instruction-liberally sprinkled with philosophy. And since everything connected with wood and stone carving has the side issue of weight to be handled, he will also show his students how to transport logs and boulders unaided-without huffing and puffing!

Another phase of instruction will be in the selection of wood and stone for carving. Within our local area Alex has found unlimited varieties of excellent limestone. He often interchanged the words "marble" and "limestone" as he spoke.

He explained that any limestone that has been subjected to tremendous pressure, creating fine crystals, can be considered as marble and suitable for carving. When the crystals are too large or flat, they create distracting light reflections, making some forms of our local rock less effective for cutting.

Big Sur and the Santa Lucia range have provided Alex with many expamoles to show his pupils.

Alex and his wife, Marion, have just returned from a trip through the Mother Lode Country where they visited quarries in the Sierras, searching for varieties of stone not native to the Monterey area. They brought back pieces of marble in many color ranges from white to creamy yellow.

This particular form is from Columbia, Alex reported, and because it is about 90 percent calcium it is quarried and then pulverized for use in the process of sugar refining.

From another quarry at the town of Cool, near Auburn, the Weygers found a blue-black limestone that is completely different than any obtainable locally.

A piece of placerite which they brought from Placerville is quite lightweight and will give interesting reddish streaks against the creamy background color when carved.

They wished they could have brought back tons of rocks, but their truck was practically scraping the road as it was.

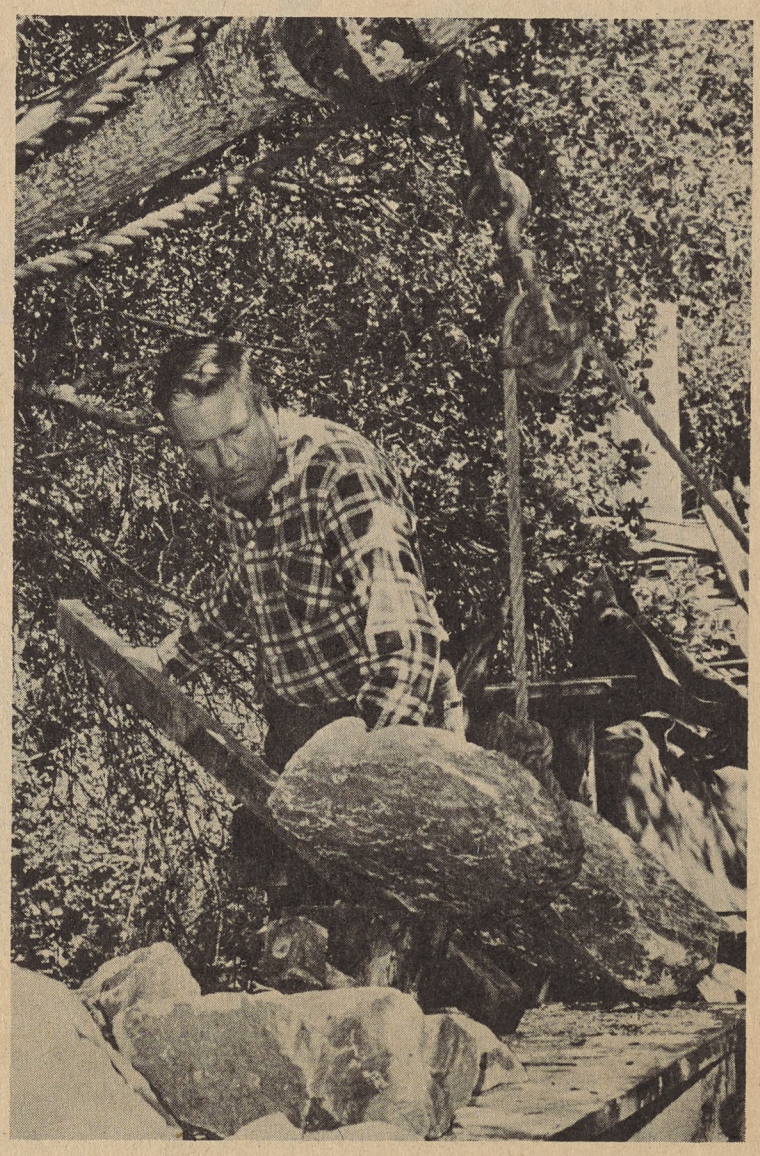
During this summer, along with teaching and working among his pupils, Alex plans on making molds of all his major pieces, many of which can be seen at the studio and throughout the grounds. These will be case in terra cotta.

Alex feels that by working like this along with his students, the outdoor class will be extremely flexible. All will be working together, but he will be available for questions and help whenever needed. Students can work as he does between the hours of 8 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon- and bring their lunch to eat under the trees.

As Alex worked on a piece of lava agregate which he found on his trip to the Sierras, he told of how he plans it as a corner sculpture depicting one of his favorite themes, mother, father and child.

He again reiterated that working with stone is not a matter of exertion, but of rhythm and timing. Then he hesitated and reluctantly admitted that a bank of familiar California adobe which he has been attempting to cut through back of his studio has almost defeated him, as it has many a would-be gardener.

But, if anyone can solve that problem, Alex should be able to.



UTILIZING the power under the hood of his truck is one means Alex uses in moving heavy weights. The piece of limestone, quarried near Auburn, weighed about 150 pounds, but with a simple pulley and rope it was easily manipulated and placed in position for carving. Working with bulky and heavy materials requires a knowledge of handling which Alex will share with his students.

KIWANIANS HEP ON GEMINI FLIGHT

When America sent two astronauts on a fabulously successful Gemini 4 flight last week, Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club members had more background information than most other Valleyites.

Why? Because two days earlier the club viewed a color motion picture on the National Aeronautics and Space Administration supplied by Brig. Gen. Eugene Reinartz, retired flight surgeon general of the U. S. Air Force.

The next step in the country's space probe program includes sending three men into orbit in an Apollo spacecraft and landing two on the moon, according to the film.

The general had spoken to the group three times on the Gemini program before. He saw the film at a meeting in New York and obtained a print for screening here.

The moon project is scheduled for 1970.

Al Giordano writes Ph.D. dissertation

Al Giordano of Carmel Valley, a member of the Monterey Peninsula College business division faculty, will spend the coming summer and the next school year writing his Ph.D dissertation. "This will conclude the final requirements for my doctoral degree at the University of Ottawa, Canada," he said.

Construction on for new pottery building here

Construction is under way on a new building for production and sales of pottery, owner Rudolph Marzi of Carmel Valley's Monterey Jade pottery announced this week.

The building being erected by contractor Lou Ebert on Del Fino Road, beside Larry Cummings Realty, will be one-story. It will have a tile roof and will feature a fountain in the front display room.

Behind will be a "pouring room," with the kiln room next. Marzi hopes to move into his new building in two-and-a-half months. It will contain 1,600 square feet, three times the size of his present quarters in Valley Center.

been drinking. He ran away, but returned later and turned himself in. He was cited to juvenile authorities, then released to his mother.

--Windows, lights and mirrors on construction equipment parked on Carmel Valley Road near Tularcitos Road was reported broken during the night of June 1. Damage was estimated at $550.

--A spray gun from a compressor used at a building site on Carmel Valley Road at Laurel Drive was stolen May 24. It was valued at $50.

--Mickey McIntyre of Pebble Beach, an unemployed bartender, expressed an intent to pursue a criminal complaint May 27 against Bill Evans of Paso Hondo, Carmel Valley, after the two were involved in a fight in the parking lot of Reuben's restaurant. Investigating Sheriff's deputies said Evans, a bartender at Reuben's, had guaranteed a $50 check for McIntyre at Reuben's, then McIntyre left the restaurant. Evans followed him and took back $40 in cash from the $50 McIntyre owed him.

--A fight reported to the Sheriff's office on Ford Road turned out to be a fair fight to settle an argument. The two boys involved, one of Via Milpitas, the other a Pacific Grove resident, had brought the father of one along as a referee No one was arrested.

--William D. Martin of Salinas jumped and disarmed Wilbur (Homer) Gruver of Pacific Grove May 31 at the Stirrup Cup cocktail lounge when Gruver threatened Martin with a .22 caliber pistol. Deputies said Gruver had offered a drink to a woman who was with Martin. When Martin told Gruver to leave her alone, they argued, Gruver got the gun from his car, and returned. Martin turned the gun over to the bartender and called the Sheriff's office. Deputies said it would be up to Gruver to sign a complaint against Martin.

Carmel High places two All-leaguers

By JOHN WRIGHT
Outlook Sports Writer

Carmel High placed two men on the 1965 All-Mission Trail Athletic League team. They were third baseman Tim Hall, a junior; and Ralph Juarez, a senior outfielder.

San Lorenzo led the selections, placing four men on the team. Hollister placed two, as did Carmel. King City, Gonzales, Gilroy and Live Oak placed one player each.

John Gho of San Lorenzo was the league's leading hitter with a .442 mark. Runner-up was Ken Freeman of King City with an even .400. Padre Ralph Juarez hit .359 and Tim Hall of CHS had a .351.

Mark Boyd, Kevin Crain, Ralph Juarez, Ken Freeman and Dave Newell of Carmel were on last year's team.

The Rev. David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel, will speak to the monthly meeting of the All Saints' Churchwomen Thursday in the parish hall. After the communion service at 10:30, there will be a short business meeting.

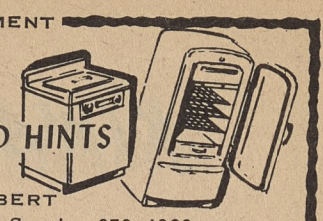
Bob's Corner HOUSEHOLD HINTS



BY BOB LAMBERT

Owner of Valley Appliance Sales & Service 659-4039.

HINT OF THE WEEK

A lot of people have asked me why I have picked one product over another, for sale, or just to recommend. If I was a salesman, it would be easy--just sell the product that is the easiest available, which brings the highest profit at the lowest sales cost, and let somebody else service it. Being an appliance technician it is different. People expect me to stand behind any product I recommend personally. They aren't interested in sad stories about factory troubles, etc. Most of the equipment I recommend is taken from the ranks of equipment I see quite often in homes, but rarely have to service. On these rare occasions it's usual y a very minor problem.

MAYTAG washers and dryers are first on my list. I have attended service schools every year for the last 15 years and even attended the "Factory Service School and Tour" at Newton, Iowa in 1957. All this time spent has been mostly wasted. In all those years I have only overhauled about 10 machines--only one under five years of age. By the time they are in need of major work they are usually too battered up or old to be economically repairable for resale. My average service call is for a new belt, suds locked, mice in the wiring, etc. Our Valley has a large number of MAYTAG. I see one almost every day "from a distance." This is why I recommend them and sell them to my neighbors. There are other machines just about as good mechanically and electrically, but none that are as consistent for mechanicability, washability and longevity of operation. I stand with Packard's slogan -- "Ask the Woman who owns one."

--Bob

GIORDANO PUBLISHES IN CBEA PAPER

A 14-page history of the California Business Education Association, as well as of the development of business education in California, appears under the title "The CBEA Story" in the May issue of CBEA Bulletin.

Author of the work, a project which took three years of research and another year of assembling and writing-all in his spare time- is Al Giordano (above) of Carmel Valley, a business instructor at Monterey Peninsula College.

Giordano, historian of the statewide organization from 1961 to 1964, inherited the CBEA archives with the post. He immediately set about classifying records, collecting photographs, corresponding with persons who could supply missing links, conducting date-gathering conferences in various parts of the state and interviewing "old-timers."

The result was a massive manuscript which had to be edited and considerably condensed for the bulletin in which it was to appear.

Also the author of a two-volume textbook, "Business Machine Calculation," Giordano says he plans to use the history as a "vehicle" for his doctoral dissertation on "Patterns of Thought Under Which Business Education Developed in the State of California." This he hopes to complete during his 1965-66 sabbatical leave from MPC.

Carmel Valley news briefs

Alex Weygers and his wife, Marion, have just returned from an exciting trip through the Sierras in search of materials for carving. They visited five different quarries and were thrilled at finding many varieties of stone in different degrees of hardness.

For a number of years many people have kept asking Alex to start a class and he has now decided to initiate an outdoor school in stone carving and blacksmithing at his studio in La Rancheria. Part of the instruction will be in making tools for the stone work so that students will have only the cost of tuition.

The traditional San Benito County Saddle Horse Show and Rodeo, which is always attended by a number of Valleyites, is scheduled for June 25, 26 and 27 for those of you who want to mark calendars.

A grass fire on an empty lot near the MacGowan residence on Village Drive burned a tenth of an acre May 31. Three units responded to the fire started by a small boy playing with matches.

Carmel Valley boys interested in joining a Little League farm team may phone Sherman LaFave, Carmel Valley Little League president, or Ken Van Hagen, league secretary.

Barbara Arnn, Carmel High School senior, has been named winner of a four year National Merit scholarship for dependents of Army personnel.

The scholarship will provide $1,500 per year for Miss Arnn to attend the college of her choice.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Weiss, P. O. Box 513, Carmel Valley, became parents of a baby boy at Community Hospital May 14. They named him Daniel Ian.

Robin Cheryl has been chosen as the name of a baby girl born to Mr. and Mrs. William Isaacs of Del Rio Road, Carmel Valley. The baby was born May 15 at Community Hospital.

The Carmel family of Allan Fenton, Box 5181, became parents of a baby girl May 17 at Community Hospital. They named her Leslie Susan.

Sixth grade girls finish extra class

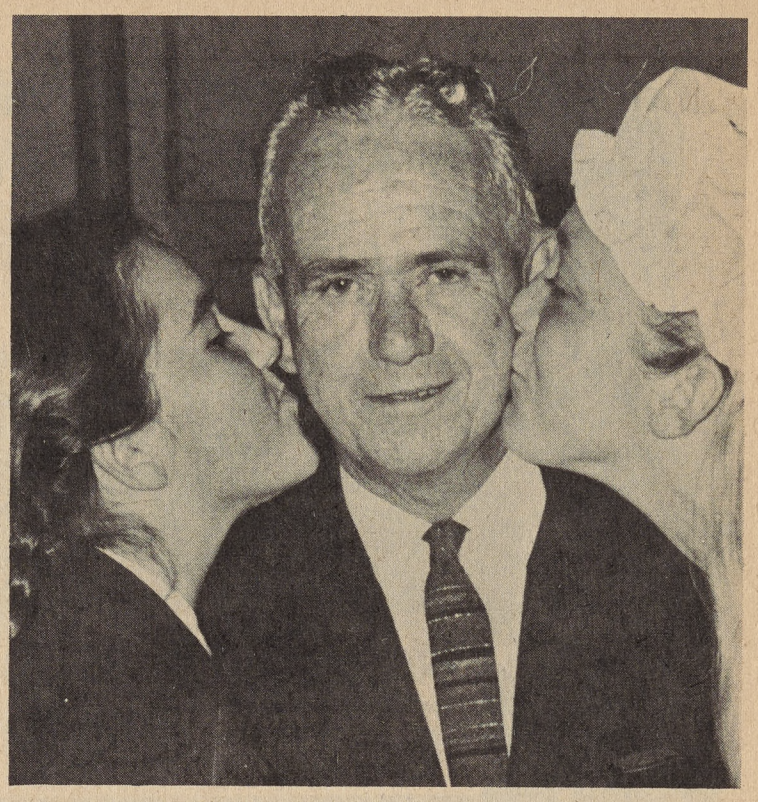
Sixth grade girls at Sunset School have just completed an extra-curricular class which they requested as preparation for their entrance into seventh grade.

The group, sponsored by sixth grade teacher Jo Brazell, worked the past semester on a code of dress and behavior. They climaxed their course with a fashion show where they modeled their own choice of clothes which they felt were comfortable and in good taste for their age group.

Afterwards, parents and faculty who were their guests were invited to a tea where the girls demonstrated their training in etiquette.

Mrs. Gladys McCloud and Mrs. Jean Olivier presented gift certificates to two girls who were chosen by their classmates.

Lorraine Jays was chosen as the girl who best represented the training of the class and Cathy Spindler was voted as the one who best portrayed the all-around girl to represent Sunset School at junior high.



LORRAINE JAYS (left) and Cathy Spindler (right) plant thank you busses on Sunset School principal Orville Rogers, in appreciation of the class in grooming and etiquette which helped them to win the gift certificates which they both hold.

music on the Peninsula

By MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The bonus recital always given by the Carmel Music Society free at the end of the season took place in Sunset auditorium following their annual meeting.

Pres. Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann gave interesting information on next season's course which will include a basso, violinist, pianist, the Goldowsky Opera Co. in "La Boheme" and an Italian chamber orchestra.

Sylvia Davis, soprano, well known locally for her many performances with the Monterey County Orchestra and Monterey Peninsula College recitals, presented a program of Handel, Faure, Mozart, Prokofiev and Rachmaninoff.

With a voice that would be more suited to opera than the subtleties of recital presentation, Miss Davis nevertheless pleased her audience with her expressive presentations and a charm of manner that has won her considerable recignition for talent and temperament.

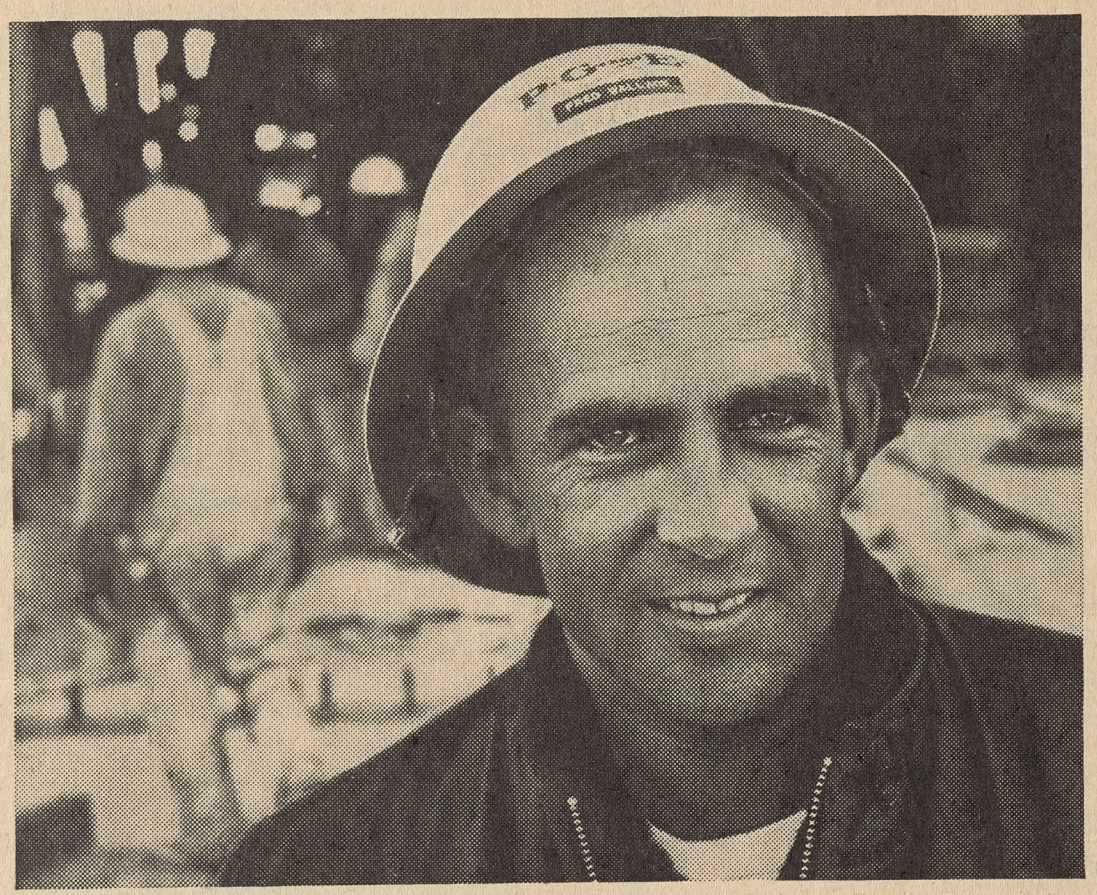
If she could do away with the tendency to come out sphorzando so often on the same open tones she would gain in balance and tonal poise.

It is strange how most modern singers today have little or no idea of the beauty of a pure legato phrase such as Hemple, Melba and others were able to manipulate in balanced musical modulations but must so often resort to emphasis on easy tones.

William Purdy, one of our good local musicians, accompanied throughout with a bit too much reserve where fullness of support was needed, forgetting, as many do, that the voice part is not the entire composition.

However, this may have been as Sylvia Davis wanted it. We are grateful for the generous contributions of both musicians and the society's generosity to the public.

MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER



7600 men are working on PG&E construction jobs today and every day.

Every working day this year, 7600 men and more than a million dollars go to work on new construction to serve PG&E customers. That many men will work all year long at jobs supported by PG&E's $275 million expansion program for 1965. That amount of money, invested every day in new equipment and materials, as well as in payrolls, becomes a valuable part of the whole state's economy. Of course, all this new construction doesn't slow us down one bit in performing our biggest job, around the clock, supplying millions of Californians with the gas and electricity they need.
